

Loh Vooi Lee

Consultant Physician and Endocrinologist
Ramsay Sime Darby Group
Malaysia

Dr Loh did his undergraduate studies in medicine at the University of Sheffield, UK and did his postgraduate training in Internal Medicine, Diabetes and Endocrinology in various prestigious hospitals in London. Upon his return from the UK, he was appointed a consultant Endocrinologist at Hospital Putrajaya, the ministry of Health flagship hospital for endocrinology and diabetes. There, he delivered clinical services at tertiary level for endocrinology and diabetes. He left to join IMU in 2012 to participate in academic activities. In 2013, he also began his private practice in the Ramsay Sime Darby Group. He has strong interests in all aspects of diabetes care, with an interest the role of technology to shape diabetes care in the future.